How should they be treated?

DOCTOR. Either medically or surgically. Most cases may be greatly relieved by soothing astringent lotions or ointments, which relieve the pain and itching, and cause retraction of the lumps which form the piles. There is nothing better for this purpose than POND'S EX-TRACT and POND'S EXTRACT OINTMENT. Either the fluid or the ointment has the astringent and soothing effect referred to and is a very useful preparation. In fact for this purpose they are best used together. Accept no substitute for Pond's Extract. Made only by Pond's Extract Co.. New York and London. Beware of imitations.

Horses Rilled on the Wabash.

Mr. John B. Thompson of Harrodeburg, Ky., has been spending the past few days in the city at the fouthern Hotel, having come on with Col. J. P. He had with him in the East fitteen horses, from which he selected the cream of his atable he of send West. Two of these horses were killed outright and three so badly injured that they will never run again. They had just taken three purses, amounting to several thousand deliars, so that the prospective profits upon the horses for the season make quite a considerable little aum, which will have to be considered in the settlement. Col. Chinn places his losses at between 50,000 and $75,000, a satisfactory settlement of which, of course, will be a little difficult, as it is a question of values, which will no doubt have to be determined by arbitration in which the "talent" of the race course will brobably be called in to assist.

They tried to engage the attention of the delegates assembled by giving information of certain alleged tricks which had been played in perfecting the organization of the Eighth Congressional District. The convention, however, refused to lose any time in give any consideration to the protests made Louis delegates thought they had enough of the convention, and left for home on the morning train. everybody was informed that he had been for Gantt. On the Raifroad Commissionership he worked for Harmon, principally it was supposed to down Ed Kenna and Bill Phelps, who were working for Hickman. No sooner had Hickman been nominated, however, than O'Day circulated among some of Hickman's chief supporters and claimed some of the credit for having swung the St. Louis delegates over to their man.

After the nomination of Judge Guntt, Chairman James Carlisle and several others of the St. Louis delegation went to see Judge Burgess. They told him that it might be said that they had deserted him, and asked him what he thought of their conduct.

"You did nobly," said the Judge. "You stood with me as long as I had any chance." The Judge was not very much cast down by his defeat, about all he had to say being that it was rather hard for a man to be beaten after coming so near to success. Gantt's victory was due entirely to the able work of his lieu-his deteat, about all he had to say being that it was rather hard for a man to be beaten after coming so near to success. Ganti's victory was due entirely to the able work of his lieutenants. They made friends with very nearly everybody in the convention, and when the break came Ganti's gain was steady and from all directions. The fact that the nominee was not brought before the convention to make an address was extensively commented on, but there was probably no other reason except that the delegates were tired by the long contest, and did not want any delay in getting to the business which was still before them.

CONVENTION STORIES.

This morning the local politicians came around to the usual haunts to talk the convention over, and some good stories of occurrences in St. Joseph were told. One was the quick repartee of Henry Quelimais to John O'Day. The latter had his arm sround the neck of a young delegate from one of the wards, when quelimais surned around and said:

"What are you trying to do now; buy some eomfortable."

"A bright idea," said one of the two fattgoed St. Louisans. "Come on," he said to his companion, "we will go down together." When they reached the next floor they found the door open, just as Sherwood had tole them, and entered the room. They were about to grab hold of the mattress when a lady sat bolt upright in the bed and excelaimed:

claimed:

"What do you want here?"

The two St. Louisans gasped for breath. After a moment of speechess assonishment one of them managed to blurt out:

"Madam, we beg your pardon. We didn't know you ware here. It wasn't you, it was the bed-clothes we wanted. O Lord!"

They stumbled over each other out of the door, and when they reached Sherwood's room again one of them, with the axiclamation, "And just think of me being a married man, too!" swooned away.

THE BATTLE DRAWS ON.

The Packed Committee to Report in Favor of the Lettery Bill.

The antis licked the life out of the lotteryites have boiled and put up a candidate whom they know will be beaten, but whom they will try to seat by their majority in the Senate. The antis' line is firm and unbroken, and the lottery cannot pass its bill without winning some of them over. The New Delia publishes more records to-day of the United States Court and the New York Supreme Court, where Morris and his confederates declare that the lottery is lummoral and contrary to law, and set up that the lottery money was used to bribe legislators, etc. Justice Bradley of the Supreme Court of the United States kicked the suit out of court on the ground that courts would not divide the proceeds of fraud.

Morris' Latest Proposition.

That he would withdraw the lottery bil om the Legislature on condition that the Democratic State Central Committee would within sixty days, and that the Governor would pledge himself in writing to convene the Legislature in special session to pass the lotters, bill if the lottery carried the primaries. The antis cannot accept the proposition, because sixty days is too shorts at time; as the lottery has control of a large part of the press, the people cannot be informed of the true state of affairs in that time.

A St. - New Golden street state that the rest of the control of th and the universal cry is still for more, hence the present action of Congress favoring legislation to satisfy the demand. As soon as the sentiment became so strong for the Government to create more money for the needs of the country, especially as full confidence was established in the sliver paper, during last winter at least it would have been wise and sagacious on the part of the Secretary to have availed of his discretion to increase the issue of sliver. Treasury notes to three millions per month, and if that had not been ample, occasionally in some months to have increased the amount even to four millions.

I highly prize the kindly feeling you and many of your members express toward me, and assure you it would be a great gratification to me if I were able to go, but its absolutely impossible, humanly speaking. I can only keep up with my work by sticking very close to it. I can hardly think any one man would be missed from the convontion, and especially that man myself. For the pleasure and profit of the meeting for myself I would be giad to go, but it does not seem within the range of possibilities.

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., May 27.—The President directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th inst., with the accompanying programme for the session of the Ninh International Convention of Christian Endeavor Societies at St. Louis, and to thank you and the committee for the very cordial invitation that it extended to him to be present. The pressure of public duties, in view of the session of Congress, is such as to make it impossible for him to be absent from Washington during the time at which your society will be in session. You need no assurance of his hearty sympathy with the work in which the society is engaged. With his best wishes for the entire success of your convention, believe me, very truly yours.

Mr. Thompson recently travelled through the interior of Peru and arrived at Mollende on blarch 9, his intention being to undertake an expedition to Carabby and Sandis in search of gold. He was amply equipped for this work, and it would appear that the savages of Peleahuso, Bolivia, assassinated him and Redmond for their stock of tools and provisions. Mr. Thompson's friends say that he took two companions with him, and surmise that from the survivor has come the story of this terrible tragedy.

THE ICE NUPPLY.

The local ice dealers are talking of high prices for their luxurious commodity with a vigorous confidence which leaves no room to doubt that before the summer has advanced much further St. Louisans will pay dear for solid coolness. They say that little ice was put up last winter, and the supply is so short in consequence, and this supply must be transported such great distances, that prices must be high in order to leave a margin of profit for wholesale and retail dealers.

The ice situation is probably not so bad as the loe dealers would have it appear. They are inclined to exaggerate the shortness of the supply in order to force the margin of profit to the highest notch. Several seasons ago when an attempt was made to form an ice combine here and to force up prices to the gouging point on an alleged shortness of supply, the Post-DISPATCH broke up the combine and roved conclusively that there was an bundance of ice in the market. But the situation this year is undoubtedly bad. Two successive mild winters have prevented the packers from replenishing their stocks with good ice, and the stock on hand is largely in the hands of heavy packers, whose superior facilities for gathering, storing and transporting ice give them great advantage over the smaller packers, and thus afford opportunity for combination. The conditions, however, are not hopeless if proper steps be taken to meet them. The public are dependent upon the uncertainties of the weather and the monopolistic tendencies of the dealers when the ice business should be on the sound practical basis of supply regulated by manufacture to meet the demand. The manufacture of ice is no longer an experiment, but a proved success. It is conducted in many Southern cities as any other manufacturing business and those cities now possess great advantages over the cities of the North in having a constant supply of pure ice. The manufactured ice is firm, is made in uniform blocks and of water the freedom of which from impurities may be guaranteed. There are splendid opportunities for profitable investment in ice plants this

After bearing the burden for some time the American colonists concluded to band together and do sometheng to save themselves. They therefore organized what is known as the American Colonists' Protective Association. They have now a healthy organization. The members are engaged in circulating a memorial which is being liberally signed by residents, and which will be presented to President Diez through Gen. Torry. The protective association has been organized in accordance with the laws of Mexico. Settlers who have members of it affirm their loyalty to the republic. The memorialists ask that President Diez revoke the grant made to the international company on the ground, among other things. President Diz revoke the grant made to the international company on the ground, among other things, that it has failed to comply with its agreement with the colonists; also that they are convinced that the English have well matured plans to bring the American colonists into disrepute through a fillbustering scheme for the purpose of creating prejudice against Americans and the American Government, with a view to securing full confidence of the Mexican Government and finsily controling the peninsula, thereby gaining a strong strategic point on the Pacific Coast for the British Government.

Gov. Torry admitted knowledge of the memorial, but declined to discuss the matter. Jeing asked why hiexico had not a stronger brice of military on the border, Gov. Torry said:

It is true that the fillbusters might have gained possession of the peninsula if their plane had not failed, but could they have held it? No, never—because they would have had against them a moral force that they could never have overcome. It is true that they could never have overcome. It is true that they might have killed me and my officers, but this sacrifice would nave been made and if I can help my country by death under such circumstances, I will gladly meet it."

SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS. The Exhibition of Work by the Students-Some Exceptionally Fine Drawings.

A great many people visited the exhibition of the work of the students of the St. Louis School of Fine Arts at the Museum on Mineteenth and Lucas place. There were offered for inspection the studies in competition for the prizes of 1859-80, in oil, water-color and charcoal, from the antique, from life and from nature. And the work represented a very considerable advance over that exhibited by the same students last year. Mr. Robert M. Root has probably one of the most pleasing studies in the collection, the life-size head of a girl leaning forward and showing a little more than profile view. The drawing is excellent and the colors pure and delicate, yet true to nature. Mr. Root has also a number of other fine heads in oil, good pencil sketches and an excellent showing of water colors, and to his studies from the nude the highest compliments have been paid by the most competent critics. A figure of a boy from the nude in charcoal was said by Mr. Fosdick, the burnt wood artist, who visited the galleries on Monday evening, to be the equal of anything done by the New York Art League. Mr. Root has won during his attendance at the Art School three scholarship and five medals. Mr. Stanley Todd has made rapid strides during the past year, and shows a very fine construction drawing from the nude. Also, a number of excellent head studies in oil, notably that of a girl with rich, dark coloring and jet black hair, and two negro heads, one in Arabian pose, with turban above the brow; the other with a bandanna handkerchief thpown across the head. These are both fine studies and show more of pictorial finish than most of the others. Mr. Todd has also some good interiors and several fine land-scapes, with excellent coloring and atmospheric effect, and his "Saturday Sketches," figures in oil and pencil, are noticeably good. Mr. Todd's work deserves a prize and will undoubtedly receive one. Mrs. A. E. Kroeninger exhibits some very fine studies in oil or from the nude, aller size figure of a girl three quarter length, and a back view, full length, of a man, which have rec the work of the students of the St. Louis Kroeninger exhibits some very fine studies in color from the nude, a life-size figure of a girl streequarter length, and a back view, tull length, of a man, which have received the most favorable comment. She has also on view a charming head of a girl well painted in extremely odd pose, showing just the back of a pretty head of wavy bronze brown hair and the outline of a delicate cheek ad delin. Mrs. Kroeninger's work altogether shows very creditable progress.

Mr. Wimar Becker has some strong and good work, including an excellent outline construction drawing from the nude of a female figure, a head of a negro boy, and some heads in oil, and Saturday pencil sketches. Mr. Wm. A. Griffith, who won the Wayman Crow medal last year, shows extremely good drawings from the nude. A very pleasing Madonna head in oil, good in color and effect, a fine study in gures in open air, and some excellent Saturday sketches in pencil. Miss Ruth Sterling's study in charcoal of a girl, from the nude, is quite good, and shows talent and a careful study of the model. Miss Mary Leeds has also a good drawing of a female figure, and Mr. M. C. Lewis has a girl's head in profile well drawn. Miss Maybel Richardson has an excellent collection of studies from the nude and heads in oil, and her work is not only pleasing and worthy of especial comment, but shows

Miss Maybel Richardson has an excellent collection of studies from the nude and heads in oil, and her work is not only pleasing and worthy of especial comment, but shows a very great progress during the year. Mr. Clarence Hoblitzelle's work all has a very finished look, his coloring is excellent, and his method peculiar to himself. Miss Sopnie Schuyler offers for competition a study of an aubura haired child, three-quarter length, which shows good character and is well painted. Some drawings worthy of note are a number of characteristic pencil sketches. Miss Helen Barnhardt's studies from the antique are very good, as are also her Saturday sketches, and the drapery studies of Mrs. Nannie Conkling and Miss Annie Halm are admirable portrayals. Miss Etta Ord, Jones chows one of the beat still life studies in the exhibits some careful and good drawings from the nucle, and fine headse in oil, one especially of a child being much admired. The Misses Emma Wheeler and Dora Hudson show studies of snowballs excellently painted.

Mr. Horton objected to the passage of the bill. He said that the property in the immediate yichnity of the market was increasing at such a rate that the city could by holding it realize fully $1,200,000 in a few years on its saie.

Mr. Rohan wound up the discussion by moving to postpone the consideration of the bill until next Tuesday evening, and the bill until next Tuesday evening, and the motion prevailed.

To this would have to be added pay for a night watchman, which would bring the total expenses cor which would bring the total expenses considerably above the amount now paid which is alleged to be exorbitant.

Capt. Murray, Forty-ninth Cavalry, testified that Militimore told him on several occasions that the property in which he (Militmore) resided was his own.

Mnj. A. S. Kimball testified that in 1886 during the Indian campaign he asked the quartermaster general to send nim the most efficient quartermaster had for service in Arizona, and asked for Capt. Campbell. Capt. Militmore reported to him for duty under that request. Allitimore had been disbursing quartermaster under him since that date and had disbursed nearly a million dollars. Not a question had ever been raised as to any expenditure. Maj. Kimball continued: "In November, 1887, I was in Tuscon at Capt. Militimore's office. The lease was sent to me for renewal, and I understood is concerned the two rooms as first leased. These leases being in Mrs. Bock's name, I inferred then that she was the actual owner, and I have had no reason to change my mind."

It is hinted that the divorce case will never come to trial as the intense love the young folks bore each other a two short years ago is still smoldering and needs little to bring them together again. Judge Klein granted Martin Neiser and his ondamen a new trial yesterday in the $10,000 bondsmen a new trial yesterday in the $10,000 damage suit entered against him by August Bollman. Bollman is a brick maker and has a kiln on Eighteenth street, between Cass ayenue and O'Falion street. Last year the property on which the kiln stands was condemned for an aliey and two Deputy Marshals went to Serve a writ on Bollman to vacate. He dodged the summons several times, but was finally faced by the deputies. He would not stand to hear the writ read to him, so the deputies isld hands on him. He struggled and a three-cornered wrestling match ensued, in which clothes were torn, faces cut and the participants bruised generally. Bollman was dragged to a police station and locked up. He entered suit against Nejser and his bondsmen later, and when the case was tried two months ago Bollman was given $3,000 damages, $2,500 for loss of his bricks in the kiln which had become "chilled" while he was away and $500 for being "siugged." Neiser filed a motion for a new trial and Judge Klein sustained the motion that an error had been made in allowing Bollman's wife to testify. She said Neiser had called on her husband after the fracas and called him a "bullhead," and this statement, it was thought, caused a prejudice in the minds of the jury against Mr. Neiser, as it would appear from this that he sustained his deputies in using brute force to serve writs, which was not so. lamage suit entered against him by Augus carefully before he nominated him, and knows that he is eligible. Mr. Lohrum and his friends make the same claim and say they are ready for the Committee on Public Improvements to take up the appointment.

The committee will meet next Tuesday afternoon, and it will then decide upon a report. This committee is composed of Messrs. Vogel. Horton and Metcalfe, all Republicans, and this is one reason why some of the nominee's friends are disposed to shake their heads ominously when the subject of confirmation is broached and members of the Council have stated openly since the rejection of Mr. Brennan's name that they would confirm a Democratitat possessed all the qualifications and who would, in their judgment, make a good commissioner. They deny that they rejected Mr. Brennan on the sole ground that he was a Democrat, though some of the Secretary's friends have made that claim. There is considerable speculation on the Council's action, but the majority of opinions expressed are unfavorable on the score of confirmation. Mr. Lohrum's friends declare that he did not seek the appointment, and points to the fact that the Mayor summoned

The political friends of the Mayor ere all pleased and express the hope that the Council will allow the somina-tion to go through and many of them are out of employment and expect positions in the Street Department when a commissioner selected by the Mayor is allowed to take charge.

While the Bise in Wheat Has Made the Flour Market Dull at Minneapolis and Elsewhere the Local Market Is Brisk— Our Great Trade in Cornmeal and Hay.

Our Great Trade in Comment and Hay.

The flour trade throughout the country has suffered during the last few weeks in consequence of the speculation in wheat and the increase in price. At Minneapolis, the greatest flour center in the country, the depression has been marked and a large number of mills have been closed down. St. Louis proves an exception just as Minneapolis provides an example. With complaints of no business coming in from every direction the St. Louis mills have enough business to keep them running every day, and at this season of the year this is rather remarkable. So far as can be this is rather remarkable. So far as can be ascartained from figures obtainable the business done this year is greater than in the divergence of the control of flour manufactured, in city mills and in mills located at country points adjacent to this city, but country and the country points adjacent to this city, but country and the country points adjacent to this city, but country and send that the country points are was considerably in excess of 1888. The result of last year's business was satisfactory to city miliers, and the output exceeded the previous year by 50,000 barrels. The four merchants, owing to the phenomenally good wheat crop in the West, had a fairly successful year, the receipts at this point showing only a portion of the business handled by them, as probably an equal amount was forwarded from country points to fill orders from the Southeast, as well as for export to Europe, South and Central America and the West indies.

The amount exported from St. Louis direct this is rather remarkable. So far as can be prices generally were better.

There was a sharp advance in Yuma Copper, owing to reports that a new superintendent in place of Frank Nicholson would soon be in charge of the mine. Trading opened at 55, and 100 shares were sold, the price rising to 57½, and an equal amount changed hands, at 58½ transfers aggregating 800 shares were made, and 200 shares brought 60. There seems to be little confidence in the continuance of these prices, as 100 shares sold at 51½ seller 30, and an offer to buy puts at 40, good for sixty days, was not accepted.

IT WAS NOT CHOLERA,

Ange avenue, June 14. 1880. 6 o'clock a. m.

This notice, containing. as it did, the information that there was cholera in the dity, naturally created considerable starm. As no aliastic cholera, has been reported in the country, however, and as cholera infantum frequently attacks infants at this season of the year physicians generally regarded it merely as case of the latter and thought Dr. Voerster had by reporting it as a case of cholera caused much unnecessary alarm. Cholera infantum is not contagious and is merely regarded as a complaint which any young child is very apt to develop, and while it frequently proves fatal its appearance has none of the terrore of genuine Asiatic cholera or yellow fever or any of the other contagious seourges. It was learned at the Health Department that Dr. Voerster had made no report of the case there except by filing the ordinary burial permit. If his child had a case of Asiatic cholera he violated the law which requires physicians to make a special report to the Health Department of any case of Asiatic cholera, reliow fever, scariet fever, diptheria, etc.

Health Commissioner Dudler when asked about the case to day remarked: "I, of course, have not seen the case and can therefore not state positively what it is, but there has not been a single case of Asiatic cholera reported in this country so far as I know, and I do not think there is any here. It is my opinion that Dr. Voerster's child merely had cholera infantum, a common complaint among infants at this time of year. Asiatic cholera generally attacks adults and not infants. If the child had echolers we certainly will tunigate the house and take any necessary steps to prevent the spreading of the disease, but I think Dr. Voerster merely made a mistake and that it was a case of sholera infantum only. If it was cholera he should have made a special report of it here and I shall ask him why he did not."

Coroner Frank was asked his opinion of the case. "I did not see the case," he repiled.

of it here and I shall ask him why he did not."

Coroner Frank was asked his opinion of the case. "I did not see the case, 'he replied, "so do not know what it was, but I do not believe there is any Asiatic cholera here. The idea of a three-months' old infant dying of cholera is preposterous. Very likely it was only a case of cholera infantum. I think the reporting of it as Asiatic cholera was merely one of Dr. Voerster's freaks."

Other physicians expressed themselves in a similar strain, not one being found who was willing to accept it as a case of Asiatic cholera.

the Territory Is Extanded and New Cus-tomers Secured—Some of the City's Ex-ceptional Advantages—Where the Goods Come From and Where They Are

There is no doubts that the dry goods bus!ness is one of the most important interests in St. Louis, it having come to the front within a few years. The St. Louis dry goods men are after Chicago times as large as the city business and about an equal quantity of fine goods is sold to each, showing that about one-fourth of the country people wear as fine fubrics as the city residents. The country trade is of the class designated by the jobbers as "net 60 days or 2-10 and regular 90 days or 6-10." The first means sixty days time or 2 per cent off for cash within ten days. The second means ninety days time or 6 per cent off for cash within ten days.

mes is one of the most important interests in the company of the control of the c

St. Louis has the reputation of being the closest market in the West, and the following reason is ascribed for it: All of the St. Louis jobbers or wholesale houses are situated within a few doors of each other. The buyer who comes to the city goes into a house and gets its prices. Then he can step into the next one and do likewise. In this way he can quickly cover all of the ground, and after finding what appears to be the cheapest place, he makes his purchase. This makes competition very close and compels the jobbers to keep their eyes open to find out what their neighbors' prices are or loss the trade of the visiting buyers. There is very little difference in the prices of any of the St. Louis houses in consequence, and they are as cheap as they can possibly be made. The prices are getting closer every year.

In Chicago the jobbing-houses are some distance apart and the buyer does not generally have the time to devote to a careful inspection of the different stocks of goods. This causes considerable difference in the prices, as a natural consequence. The buyer therefore ean get his goods at a much cheaper rate in St. Louis than he can in Chicago or from Chicago houses.

The close proximity of the St. Louis houses had a tendency to build up the market and has justly made for this city the name of being the cheapest place to buy goods in the United States.

IMPORTED GOODS.

The St. Louis market imports an immense quantity of goods from Europe, principally from England, France and Germany. The value of the goods insported annually for St. Louis is estimated at $5,000,000. They consist principally of gloves, hosiery, linens, crashes, cambrics, dress goods, laces and silks. The hosiery is imported principally from England, the linens from Ireland and Scotland, the crashes and cambrics from Germany, the dress goods, gloves and silks from France, and the laces from Switzerland. Some of the St. Louis houses have buyers in Europe who devote the whole of their time to purchasing the latest patterns, etc.

The notion department, which is situated on the seventh floor, is the most interesting of the lot. There are needles, pins, thread, thimbies, buttone, musical instruments necktife pins, jewelry, fans, paraeols, braids, trimmings, stationery and all kinds of novelties and faney articles. Linn Holt, a cattle owner whose ranch is in the vicinity of Ashland, the Government telegraph station, has lived in that locality since 1886 and in the vicinity of the Cheyenne Indians ever since they have been on the present reservation. He has never feit any fears for his safety until now. About three weeks ago he noticed a change in the manner of the Indians, and Tuesday a friendly Cheyenne advised him to take his wife away as there was going to be trouble. Later a trusty Indian boy told him that the Cheyennes were going to right, that two of the tribe had been sent to the Sloux Agency at Standing Rock to get the Sloux to come and help them, that they were going to take Agent Upshaw's scalp sure. Se he packed up and brought his wife here.

his beautiful grounds at Glasgow place, which his beautiful grounds at Glasgow place, which was gratefully accepted. Everything possible to make the party a delightful one is being done. The enjoyment of the little people will be particularly looked after and a large crowd of them is expected. St. Andrew's Chapel is still connected ed with the Church of the Holy Communion. It was, commenced as a mission two years ago by the Chapter of St. Andrew of that church. The Rev. Mr. Dean has been the rector from the beginning. He is also assistant rector of the Church of the Holy Communion. It is owing to his untring faithfulness, as well as his personal popularity, nobly assisted by the Guild of St. Agnes, that so much has been done in so short a time. The congregation has outgrown its location, 2005 Sheridan avenue, and they are preparing to build a chapel. This entertainment is intended to assist in purchasing a lot. So many persons are interested in the success of this little mission that a large crowd of West End people is expected on Wednesday evening. There will be fine music, dancing and refreshments. The usual Gospel service of the Union Depot Rallway Branch, 126 South Fourteenth street, on Sunday afternoon at 4:15, will be led by Secretary Cobb. Subject: "Good Things to Keep." Rallway people especially welcome.

The Suburban. New York Tribune.

Interest in the Suburban increases daily. Two candidates were out yesterday—Raceland and Prince Royal. For it is likely that Mr. Belmont will start both, if he can get a jockey that suits him to ride Prince Royal. Hamilton will ride Raceland, of course. The big gelding, looking bigger and better than ever before, had a walkover in the fifth race, the owners of Come-to-Taw and Admiral wisely concluding not to run those horses against him, but Hamilton made the walkover good sharp work for the Suburban, and Raceland came flying down the homestretch at a pace which few thoroughbreds in the world could equal. He looked so well and his tremendous stride ate up space so fast that his admirers were much encouraged as to his Suburban chances, and such phrases as "Tenny must run better than he ever ran last year to beat that horse" were frequent. Careful and conservative turf opinion is settling into a conviction that the Suburban will be fought out by Raceland, Tenny and Salvator, with a possible look-in for Longstreet on a dry track. Loantaka has some friends, but most turkmen believe the journey too long for him. Tenny is a certain starter (any rumors to the contrary on investigation proving to be mers paddock gossip), and the others named, including Frince Royal (who may help Raceland a little), are almost sure to go to the post. It is unlikely now that Proctor knott will run, for he was so badly beaten at Latonia on Saturday that his prospects are hopeless. Montagu and Cassius will go, and Strideaway may be there, but the top-weights hold these three safe enough. With a good day and a good track, Salvator, Tenny and Raceland ought to make a finish that will cause all other Suburban finishes, volcanic as many of them have been, to seem dull and tame in comparison. Two candidates were out yesterday—Raceland and Prince Royal. For it is likely that Mr.

degree to mar or diminish the victory of Ohampion Sherrill, who won on his merits, or in other words by getting away from his mark as Cary would had done if he had acquired the ability. From ten yards atter the start in the 100 and 250 races Sherrill was in the lead, and in both races Cary reduced Sherrill's lead before the tape was reached, proving conclusively that Cary in his fastest motion is a speedler man than Sherrill. And one other point: Cary ran as fast, if not faster, at the Ovai May 31 than did Sherrill at the same meeting a year ago, which proves that Sherrill ran in improved form, as will Cary next year. I believe firmly that Cary can run 100 yards in 9 4-5s., 220 in 13-5s. and 440 in 473-5s. Not this year possibly, but within the next three years, surely, barring accident.

From the Somerville Journal.

The remarkable vogue of certain words is one of the mysteries of current conversation and writing. There was, for instance, the and writing. There was, for instance, the word "environment," which had a great run a few years ago. Then "distinctly" had an inning, being affected by artistic people, to whom art was "distinctly precious." Then lovers of good English were made unhappy by the public speaker, who on every possible occasion told the world that he wolced the sentiments" of somebody or other the same man generally used that monstrosity, "brainy." Most people remember how popular "unique" and "bizarre" were a short time ago, and how the word "aporadie" broke loose on almost every page of certain writers. Then the word "anent" had a brief reign, being especially loved by the gossiper in the society weeklies. More recently that fine adverb "absolutely" carried everything before it, in an absolutely absurd way.

Wherever Malaria Exists,

Wherever Maiaria Exista,
The bilious are its certain prey. In intermittent the liver is always seriously affects d and the blood contaminated with bile. One of the chief reasons why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a sure defense against chilis and fever and every form of malarial disease, is, that it does away with liability to the disease by reforming irregularity of the biliary organ in advance of the arrival of the season when the disease is prevalent. There is no finer for trifying preparative for those about visiting or emigrating to a locality where the miasma-taint exists. There is no certain immunity from disease in an endemic or epidemic form,

Bitters succeeds both in preventing and curing,
Moreover, it removes every vestige of dyapepala and overcomes constipation, rheumatism, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder and tranquillizes and atrengthens the nervous system.

Everett & Post review the situation as follows: "Besause of light offerings a gradual hardening in which was not to be supported by the lead centers. Below the light of light of the same reason refiners are unable to secure the usual supplies of buillon, as miners also are holding their ores, anticipating permauently higher prices after the change in tariff. At the moment the outlook for the near future, not withstanding the already short advance the Metal has expersioned, is for still higher values. SAN FRANCISCO, June 14 .- At a meeting of the City Hall Commissioners yesterday Architect Wright, appointed to inquire into the condition of contract work performed on the walls of the northwest wing of the new City Hall, presented his report. He stated that forty-three openings had been made in different parts of the wing and one-fourth of these

In about one-fifth of the defective brick work was also found most serious defects in four great pieces, supporting heavy iron girders and which would have to carry the weight of 150 tons each. The piers are filled with rubbish for part of their height and would have to be taken down. An arch was also found defective.

A communication from Contractors McCann and Riddell was read in which they expressed a willingness to put the work in perfect condition and elaimed to have information that George Hanks, who pointed out the defective work of the commissioners, caused two barrels of tuffing to be piaced in a few separate places within the walls and intimated to some of his fellow-workmen that he intended to of his fellow-workmen that he intended to profit thereby by selling the information to the newspapers. McCann testified that he thought $500 would cover the cost necessary for repairs. A number of workmen testified that Hunks had told them the walls were stuffed by him and he intended to make money out of the matter.

CHICAGO'S PROBLEM. The Proposed Locations for the World's Fair

Discussed by the People. CHIGAGO, Ill., June 14 .- Last night the Executive Committee of the World's Columbian Exposition assembled to hear the report of the Committee on Site. Except the Lake Front Park, the committee criticised more or been discussed in Chicago for weeks as pos-sible places for the fair grounds. Garfield sible places for the fair grounds. Garfield Park, the favorite spot on the West Side of the city, was declared to be out of the question. The Lake Front, the committee held, was the Ideal site, barring certain legal disabilities which were in process of adjustment. More time was asked before a final recommendations be made. The extension of time was granted, and then the Executive Committee listened to the representatives of the west and north sides of the city, each opposing Jackson Park, the choice of the southern part of the city, but agreeing that the Lake Front, enlarged so as to take in the present outer harbor, would be thoroughly acceptable. By the "Lake Front" is meant the open tract bounded on the west by the business part of the city and on the cast by the waters of Lake Michigan. The idea is to add to this tract a square mile of territory to be reclaimed from the take.

IS HE A PROFESSIONAL?

HE PASTIMES TO PREFER CHARGES AGAINST ATHLETE HERMAN WIENERE.

Thampion Amateur Is No Amateur at &ll -Besult of Yesterday's Eaces at the Fair frounds and on Other Tracks—Base Ball

Union to be held at Detroit this afternoon.
The Pastime Club of St. Louis intends to prefer charges of profession-alism against him and protest against his being permitted to start in any of the events. While one of the members of the Pastime was in Omaha recently he was informed by onal sprinter there that Wieneke a professional. This runner that he and Wieneke had gether in a circus with which they traveled. It was also stated that Kendall, the Omaha maer who came here a couple of years ago of the Missouri Amateur Athletic Club, was a well known professional and that Wieneke was aware of the fact, but dare not inform on Kendail, as the latter also knew him to be a professional. The Pastimes have been quietly at work investigating the charges against Wieneke and claim to now have possession of Wieneke and claim to now have possession of proof enough to CONVICT HIM BEYOND A DOUBT.

Should Wieneke be shown up to be a professional it will rob the Missouris of their most valuable man. At the late Western Association champlonship meeting he came next to George Riddle of Chicago in the number of points scored, the Chicago in the number of points scored the Western Association and broke the association record at the Olympic Club games. He is the best hurdler in the city and is considered the best broad jumper here, although he has not met Reber of the Pastimes, who has recently made a splendid record at this event and may be his superior. Wieneke is also a good hammerthrower, and is one of the best runners in the city at any distance from 100 yards to 440 yards.

If the Pastimes have the proof against Wieneke they are allege to possess, it is almost certain to be presented to-day, for the feeling between this club and the Missouris, of which Wieneke is a member, is everything but friendly. They have been fighting each other for some time, and the Missouris have kept of the Pastimes out of events. While Cahill was a member of the Pastimes he was never permitted to start in any but fine games given by that club, as the Missouris had him under a ban. When Nolan left the Missouris and joined the Pastimes he was not permitted to run under the colors of the latter club at a meeting held here, because sufficient time had not elapsed between it and the time of his transfer from one club to another. A row is now going on between the two clubs over their open meetings. The Pastimes announced that they would hold their spring games Decoration Day, and the Missouris immediately set Sunday, June 1, as the date for holding their sports. The Pastimes then declared their meeting off altogether, and the Missouris dillkewise. Then announcement was made by the Pastimes that they would hold an open meeting a week from to-day, and the Missouris next move was to arrange for a meeting to be held a week from to-morrow. Of course people will not attend both meetings. John C. Meyers of the Missouris,

TO MAKE THE CLASH GREATER, arranged for an amateur regatta to be held at Creve Cour Lake next Saturday, the day on which the Pastime meeting is held. The Missouris will have Skillman of Kansas CRy, Kennedy, Riddle and others of Chicago at their meeting a week from to-morrow. They also hoped to secure the Amateur Athletic Union men whom the Pastimes are to bring out to their meeting. They are to get Owen, the 100-yard champion of America; Ward, the distance champion pole vanitar. It is said, however, that these men will not compete in the Missouris' games, and if this proves to be the case the latter club is apt to get decladedly the wors of the cla quality and quantity this meeting will exceed any ever held in this city. The Wanderers of Chicago have entered the best team they could get together, which includes Otto Hassel, the champion walker; Geo. Riddle, the champion at heavy weights and all round athiete; Skillinger, the crack sprinter, and also the doughty little Irishman, Michael Kennedy, who is the present one and five mile champion. P. D. Skillman the champion distance runner of the New York Athletic Club, who is now located in Kansas City, Mo., will be here and meet Kennedy in the mile run, both starting from soratch. Skillman has a record of 4 minutes 30 seconds for the mile run, both starting from soratch. Skillman has a record of 4 minutes 30 seconds for the mile record. Kennedy won the cross-country championship of Ireland in 1888, the year he came to this country, and has never suffered defeat on this side of the Atlantic except when conceding large handicaps. There has been considerable discussion in Western athletic circles as to the merits of the two men, and their coming together on neutral ground will afford the opportunity for a fair test. All entries will positively close to-night with D. Lawson Dick, Secretary, Post-office box 363, or with John C. Meyers, 316 North Fourth street.

Reprimanding the Browns. The Board of Directors of the St. Louis Park. Mr. Ed Busch, the newly elected director, was present and Judge Cecil Scott was elected Secretary, the position held by the late August Reimier. The players of the team were called before the board and reprimanded collectively, after which the individual cases of Earle, Chamberlain and Stivetts were taken up and disposed of. The punishment in each case was very light and reasonable. Earle, who virtually descrede the team, was fined $100 and four days' pay and was warned to report every day in the future or else be suspended. Stivetts, who went so far as to grossly insuit President Von der Ahe yesterday afternoon, was fined $100 for his bad conduct, and he was told that if he conducted himself properly the balance of the season the fine would be remitted. Chamberlain's case was disposed of by imposing a suspension until he got himself in good condition, when he would be given another trial in the box. The seenes in and around the church were impressive and pathetic. The believers knelt on every available spot. Many persons had slept all night on the church steps and under a big shed in the church yard.

"Father Moilinger does not claim to work miracles, but is a firm believer in fathe coupied with work. He is a physician and reads human nature with wonderful accuracy. These qualifications coupled with the unbounded faith of his patients seem to enable him to accomplish wonderful results if all that is claimed is to be believed. Many claim to have been cured merely by receiving his blessing, but Father Moilinger always prefers to have the patients stay a few days and receive medicines as well as prayers. He makes no charge for his prescriptions, but his coffers are always well falled. Hatfulls of quarters, half dollars, dollars and even five utoliar bills were taken up to-day.

English Government offered a heavy reward for the capture of the pirates alive or dead. Most of them were taken and hanged, but Morgan was befriended by Mrs. Brennan's sailor husband, whose name was John King. Morgan remained in hiding on the island untilesearch for him was over, being three months in King's house after which King secured for him a passage to Liverpool on an east-bound vessel that touched at St. John. The pirate said at parting: "My friend, how ean! repay you? You have saved my life. I have no money, but here is a map of an island in the Pacific Ocean, off the coast of California, on which me and my mates have buried an immense amount of treasure of gold. Study faithfully the chart attached to the map and you will see the way to find the spot where the precious metal lies concealed. Farewell, I shall never be a pirate any more." Mark is not sure these were the very words uttered by the pirate, but he knows that that was the meaning of what the pirate said. Morgan was never heard from again, and Mark believes he died in his bed while spending a peaceful old aga, because he never heard of the British Government hanging a pirate named Morgan who came from Newfoundiand. The missing link in Mark's story is that he does not remember the name of the breasure island or in what direction it lay from San Francisco. His stepmother related that her first husband, on securing the chart of the island, said never a word to anyone, but concealed it in his money-belt when he went to son.

but ooncealed it in his money-beit when he went to sea.

A few years afterward, salling in the neighborbood of the treasure island, King revealed the existence of the island and the treasure to the captain eagerly absorbed the information and signified his willingness to go halves in consideration of his salling out of his course. The sallor man said "done" and they proceeded to the island, and making an excuse to the crew that they were going after fresh water, went asbors in a small boat. They found treasure and the captain loaded himself down with it. It was all in gold, Mark thinks it was in lumps, but he was so very young when he heard the story that he is not quite sure what was its shape. He remembers, bowever, that a strange thing happened on the return of the two men to the vessel. The small boat was caught in the breakers, and the captain, who had flied his beit and his pockets with gold, sank like a lump of lead, while King who had buried his share in the small boat was caught in the beakers, and the captain, who had flied his beit and his pockets with gold, sank like a lump of lead, while King who had buried his share in the small boat was caught in the beit and his pockets with gold, sank like a lump of lead, while King who had buried his share in the boat and was rescued. King was charged by the other sallors with murdering the captain, because the captain was known to be an excellent swimmer. Of course King could not explain that it was the gold in the Captain of the course that caused his death by sending him to the bottom, and he was in a dreadful pickle for a time. He finally managed to convince the crew that he had no coject in murdering the Captain and that the Captain died of cramps in his legs. Going to the Island ing the treasure and getting back to the ship with it unobserved. Suit at Law Involving a Valuable Strip of Land in Indiana.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparon.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., June 13.—A peculiar suit has just been entered in the Clark Circuit. Court of this city, which will open up again questions long thought to be settled. It is brought by the trustees of the town of Clarks-ville, the oldest incorporated, and also probably the oldest town in Indiana, if not in the salior man, a treasure island and a chart. It is a tale of a wicked pirate, a shrewd salior man, a treasure island and a chart. It seems that Mark's father's name is Thomas, and at the time Mark was born he was a hardware merchant in St. Johns, Newfoundland. That was eighteen years ago. Mark's mother died and his father married a few years afterward the widow of a salior who had died many years before. To her husband Mark's stepmother told the story of the treasure. There was in the first half of this century, said Mrs. Brennan, a wicked pirate named Morgan, who belonged to a band of bold buccancers who salied in and out of Newfoundland ports. So bold and successful had they become that the English Government offered a heavy reward for the capture of the pirates alive or dead. Boils and Pimples

Are nature's efforts to eliminate poison from the blood. This result may be accomplished much more effectually, as well as agreeably, through the proper excretory channels, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"For several years I was troubled with boils and carbuncles. In casting about for a remedy, it occurred to me that Ayer's Sarsaparilla had been used in my father's family, with excellent success, and I thought that what was good for the father would also be good for the son. Three or four bottles of this medicine entirely cured me, and I have not since—in more than two years—had a boil, pimple, or any other cruptive trouble.
